

Special Limited Time Introductory Offer From MealEasy

Company offers their top quality silicone baking mats along with a one year subscription to the MealEasy meal planner for an additional 10% off

September 9, 2014 - Halifax, Nova Scotia -- As its first foray into the kitchen wares and utensils field, MealEasy is very proud to offer these "highest quality silicone baking mats, as well as a one year subscription to the MealEasy Meal Planner at a special grand opening 10% discount.

For the low sale price of $26.96, the buyer not only receives two eco-friendly reusable top quality silicone baking mats, but also gets an all access, no restrictions membership to the Internet's premier meal planning tool. The MealEasy Meal Planner simplifies the user's life by helping the customer plan their meals, compiling a grocery list of all the ingredients for those meals and giving the subscriber detailed instruction on how to prepare these chef designed creations.

Recent development of the meal planning software has also added a growing library of electronic books (eBook) to which customers now have full access to as an added benefit. "MealEasy's value continues to grow as we expand our library over time, in a continuing effort to provide exceptional value to our customers", say company president George Borovan.

"The yearly membership rate for the MealEasy Meal Planner is $89" says Borovan, "add the silicone baking mats and we think $26.96 for two mats and a one year membership is an excellent deal."

The silicone baking mats are offered with a 100% no questions asked guarantee and are made of highest quality German materials that have been shown not to smoke at high temperature unlike some of the less reliable silicone mats on the market.

This very limited time offer will only be available to customers from September 9th, 2014 until midnight (EST) September 12th, 2014.
